Delegate Wilcox goes to Congress this month.

Prince Kalaniana'ole is well and as handsome as ever.

Delegate Wilcox is well and out-by this time at the Capitol.

Governor Dole will go to Washington when he is feeling better.

Mrs. Robert W. Wilcox will not go to Washington this month.

Delegate Wilcox is well and out-by this time at the Capitol.

We are glad to hear that Hon. Henry E. Cooper was in town yesterday for a little while.

Delegate Wilcox is well, and says he will go to Congress either on the 10th or 15th, that is today.

David Kalaniana'ole Jr. (Delegate Wilcox's private secretary), and his wife are living at the Queen's residence.

President Roosevelt is busy receiving Prince Henry, therefore he will not talk about Hawaiian affairs for some weeks to come.

Mr. Wray Taylor is a jolly fellow, and is just the right man for the department he's in—everybody satisfied and no kick coming.

We hope the next Legislature will bring luck, and we hope the members of both houses will raise the salaries of all the government officials.

Hon. Samuel Parker was the first Hawaiian who went to the Philadelphia convention to nominate President Theodore Roosevelt and President William McKinley.

Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani is well and enjoying herself. She has received numerous callers. She will return to Honolulu in June. She is well received in Washington.

Delegate Wilcox is out to Congress by this time, and he will bring all his bills through to make up for lost time for the good of this Territory. We do not like to listen to the Great I Am of the "Tiser." They do not know any more than the man in the moon.

We congratulate Captain Merry of the United States naval station here upon his recent appointment to the rank of rear admiral. As Captain Merry, he has won both the respect and admiration of all citizens on the island, and we extend this congratulation to him with sincerity, and regret, at the same time, that we are going to lose his genial presence.

Reception to Consul Canavarro.

The reception to Consul A. de Souza Canavarro, who recently returned from a trip to his native country, will be given by the committee having the affair in charge, at the hall of the St. Antonio Society, Vineyard street, on Saturday evening. The committee, of which M. A. Gonsalves is chairman and Maj. Canamar secretary, has perfected plans for an elaborate affair. There will be a reception committee, consisting of Mr. Gonsalves and M. G. Silva, and the hall is now being decorated by the committees under the direction of the general committee. There will be refreshments and dancing, and the evening will be in many ways a most flattering tribute of the colony to the returning consul.

O. U. Ladies' Society.

The spring business meeting of the Ladies' Society of Central Union Church for benevolent and social work will be held on Thursday morning, March 20th, at 10 o'clock, in the ladies' parlor. The society asks all the ladies of the congregation for their interest, and cordially invites all to become members. It is hoped that a large attendance at this first meeting of the year will show a responsive interest. Full co-operation is urgently needed that the society may do effective work during the year.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Some of the members of the Murphy Club objected to the presence of Japanese at the clubroom, but Rev. Mr. Westervelt promptly sat down upon the race agitation, and overruled the dissenters.

Madame Johnstone-Bishop leaves today on the Alameda, for the Mainland. She received news by the last steamer that her father had been stricken with paralysis, and she goes immediately to Los Angeles, where he resides.

At the Young Women's Christian Association tomorrow afternoon, at 5 o'clock, Miss Helen Keany will give her twenty-minute talk on English and American humorists. Mrs. Frear will give a detailed study of Emerson's poems on Friday, at 4 o'clock.

Through inadvertence the name of William Lishman, confidential clerk of the late E. C. Macfarlane was omitted from the list of the pallbearers on the occasion of the funeral Sunday. The arrangements for the service which was carried through with precision and beauty, were all made by another of the employees of the house, John A. Hassinger.

END OF THE STRIKE.

San Francisco Machinists Give Up the Long Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—It was a day of jubilation among the striking machinists yesterday. After a period of idleness of nearly ten months their strike had been declared off and every man was free to secure employment if he could. Unfortunately the applicants were many, but the places to be filled were few. Nearly 1,000 men sought employment with their old firms during the day, but of that number less than 100 were given the positions they vacated on May 20, 1901.

Fully 700 men applied at the Union Iron Works yesterday for work, but only 55 were accepted. The others were given to understand that they might apply from day to day, and that they would be given employment as circumstances might require. It is believed that several weeks will elapse before the last of the complement of the Union Iron Works' working force will be restored to their old places in the shop.

At the Risdon Iron Works several hundred applications for reinstatement were filed. During the morning a bare half dozen were put to work, and in the afternoon some twenty were told to show up this morning. At the other shops which are identified with the Metal Trades Association the striking machinists were cordially received. A conservative estimate of those who went back places the figure at less than 100.
